The building radiates around a central courtyard based on a nautilus form. The nautilus spiral is natural expression of growth from a center. The building form and exterior courtyard are interlocked together with the spiral form.

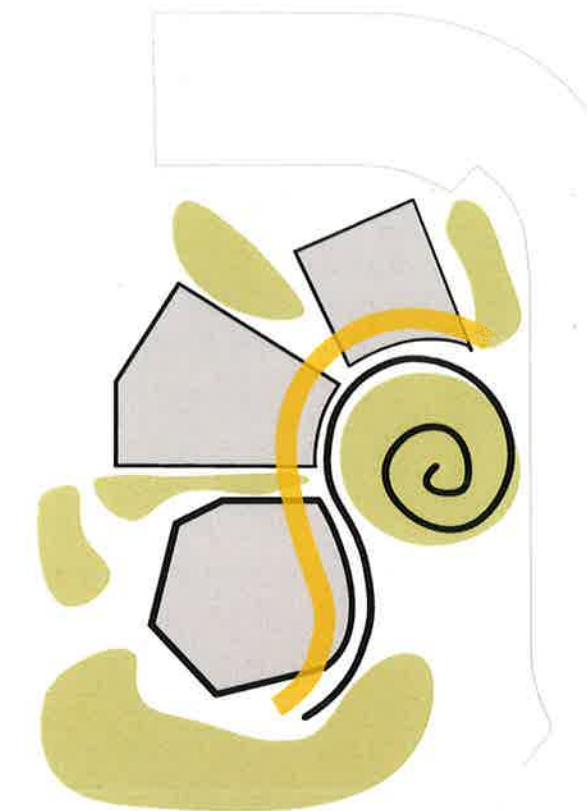

The sanctuary shape is an enveloping organic form inspired by nature that anchors the building and provides an iconic shape for identity and personality.

The landscaped open spaces are woven into the building's organization as the main building spaces are arrayed around the spiral organizing path.

The spiral forms the edge of the building which faces into the main courtyard. The continuous flow of circulation and gathering spaces will have glass walls facing the courtyard, providing transparency and celebrating connections and community.
